

Filip Turza

Lista publikacji

1. Turza, F., Zuber, G., Bzoma, M. Prus, M., Filipiak, M., Miler, K. (2020). Ants co-occurring with predatory antlions show unsuccessful rescue behavior towards captured nestmates. Journal of Insect Behavior, 33, 1-6.
2. Miler, K., Turza, F. (2021) "O sister, where art thou?"—a review on rescue of imperiled individuals in ants. Biology. 10, 1079.
3. Turza, F., Miler, K. (2022). Comparative analysis of experimental testing procedures for the elicitation of rescue actions in ants, Current Zoology, 68.
4. Turza, F., Miler, K. (2023). Injury shortens life expectancy in ants and affects some risk-related decisions of workers. Animal Cognition, 26.
5. Turza, F., Miler, K. (2023). Small workers are more persistent when providing and requiring help in a monomorphic ant. Scientific Reports, 13, 21580.